My datagrid is bound to an observablecollection of an object, in this object i have a property called "Corso" which is a string and a property called "Citta" which is an integer. the goal is to convert the Corso property to an integer, in order to do this i wrote a Converter as described in this link: and here is my code.

RedBook Portable Torrent For Windows

This is a personal project by @n8blaze that combines the power of Intercal with the simplicity of RedBook. RedBook is a nice project for new Ruby developers. It provides a small DSL for parsing and formatting text with lots of useful features for you to use. It also supports Unicode text, color, highlight, and provides lots of useful formatting features for text. The problem with RedBook is that it was written in version 1.4.x and there were lots of missing features in the parser that made it unusable for daily logging. To solve this problem, n8blaze decided to take the parser from RedBook and combine it with Intercal.
